Who can Join?

We're seeking members with a wide variety of perspectives. Whatever role you play with uPerform, including end user, author, technical or project administrator or manager/supervisor, we invite you to apply for membership.

Our members have varying levels of experience with and exposure to our solutions, such as:

- Power user: you may be a corporate trainer, you use the solution frequently, and are designated as an “expert” within your organization.
- Moderate user: use of the solution may be only a part of your job, and your knowledge and usage is not as deep or broad as a power user. You'd like to learn more but don't always have the time.
- Rare user: You're content with where your organization is with uPerform usage. You reach out to ANCILE only when you have a specific issue or question to address.

(Note: we also encourage memberships by those whom English is not their first language.)

Regardless of your role or your experience level, all are welcome to apply. The ATV will help you while you help others.
